iOS: how to make UITableView reorderable I have a tableview, which is loaded from a plist. This plist is edited by user at runtime. I want to allow user to drag up and down the table, and when user drop the tableview up, then the up and down changes into down and up. Please help me to implement this. A: Instead of tables, I would suggest you to use an NSArrayController to manage the content of the table. You can implement your own (2-dimension) view of the table by using sections. This might enable you to have a much more flexible table. When the moon is full, it sits directly over the center of the earth and casts a shadow of itself on the ground.
